One of the great values of punctuality is that it gives discipline to life. We have to get up in time. We have to do things at the appointed time. All these entail certain amount of sacrifice. It dispels laziness and removes our 'take it easy' attitude. A disciplined person gets recognition and social acceptance. He is wanted and appreciated. Therefore, punctuality can make us socially acceptable people.

Another significant merit of punctuality is it provides ample time to do our work correctly and properly. Doing things hurriedly and haphazardly can have disastrous consequences. When we do things in time, there is every chance that they end up as fine works. The virtue of punctuality is said to be the key to success. Look at the great world leaders who have achieved fame and success. Punctuality was their hallmark. They kept their promises. Washington once took his secretary to task for being late. The secretary laid the blame upon his watch. Washington reported: "Then, Sir either you must get a new watch or I must get a new secretary." People like them are ideals whom we should follow in earnest.

When individuals are not punctual, they cause a lot of inconvenience to others. People have to wait for them and waste their valuable time. Want of punctuality reveals want of culture and is discourteous to the person we fail. Unpunctuality invites trouble and worry. History is full of cases which show that lack of punctuality has caused defeat, loss of kingdom and golden opportunities. It is said that Napoleon lost the battle of Waterloo in 1815 because one of his generals came late. Many people lose good opportunities of job or promotion when they reach late for appointment.

All of us are not born with the virtue of punctuality. We have to cultivate it painstakingly. Only constant vigil and practice can implant virtue. It calls for great deal of sacrifice. It calls for courage to root out laziness and the 'take it easy' attitude. It demands a disciplined life. That is why a few individuals have the virtue of punctuality. But, know it for certain that it is the surest way to success.

- 7) What are the advantages of being punctual?

 - B) Punctuality entails a lot of sacrifice
 - C) Punctuality helps to gain acceptance and recognition in life
 - D) It teaches us a 'take it easy' attitude

- A) They often blamed others for punctuality
 - B) They did their work haphazardly
 - C) Punctuality was their hallmark and they kept their promises
 - D) They failed to keep promises
- 10) How do unpunctual people cause trouble to others?
- A) The work gets delayed and remains incomplete
 - B) It shows indiscipline and lack of respect
 - C) It causes unnecessary worry and anger
 - D) It forces people to wait for them thus wasting their precious time
- 11) Which one of the following is NOT CORRECT about cultivating punctuality in our lives according to the passage?

Many sociologists have argued that there is functional relationship between education and economic system. They point to the fact that mass formal education began in industrial society. They explain this correspondence in terms of the needs of industry for skilled and trained manpower, needs which are met by the educational system. Thus, the provision of mass elementary education in Britain in 1870 can be seen as a response to the needs of industry for a literate and numerate workforce at a time when industrial processes were becoming more complex and the demand for technical skills was steadily growing.

81. Write a precis of the following passage: (10 MARKS)

Climate change is the defining issue of our time and we are at a defining moment. From shifting weather patterns that threaten food production, to rising sea levels that increase the risk of catastrophic flooding, the impacts of climate change are global in scope and unprecedented in scale. Without drastic action today, adapting to these impacts in the future will be more difficult and costly. Climate change refers to long-term shifts in temperatures and weather patterns. Such shifts can be natural, due to changes in the sun's activity or large volcanic eruptions. But since the 1800s human activities have been the main driver of climate change, primarily due to the burning of fuels like coal, oil and gas.

Burning fossil fuels generates greenhouse gas emissions that act like a blanket wrapped around the Earth, trapping the Sun's heat and rising temperatures.

Global warming of 1.1 degree Celsius above pre-industrial levels has been caused by over a century of burning fossil fuels and unequal, unsustainable energy and land use. This has led to an increase in the frequency and intensity of extreme weather events, which have caused dangerous impacts on nature and people worldwide.
